I want the women to go with Saint Peter, and the men to form two lines. Make one line of the men that dominated their women on earth, and the other of men who were dominated by their women.' There's much movement, but eventually the women are gone and there are two lines. The line of the men that were dominated is 100 miles long. The line of men that dominated women has only one man. God gets angry and says, 'You men should be ashamed of yourselves. I created you in my image and you were all dominated by your mates. Look at the only one of my sons that stood up and made me proud. Learn from him!' He turns to the man and says, 'Tell them, my son. How did you manage to be the only one on that line?' The man says, 'I don't know, my wife told me to stand here.'

YACOB IBN LEITS, known as Soffar (the Boilermaker), was a humble kettle mender, father and grandfather. Growing up in a village, he collected a band of followers and took the position of bandit chief in the mountainous region of Khurasan the royal treasury. He was a collector of gold bullion, also came in the service of a strange use of the yellow metal. He had a bodyguard of 1,000 cavalry horsemen with a mace or war hammer of solid gold. The maces were used to smash enemy skulls and would be used in the day. A thousand maces worth of $14,000,000. Yacoub's dynasty is a century and are known as the (Boilermaker) Dynasty.

My father was a lifelong pastor. One Sunday, as he was making his closing remarks, his false teeth flew out. In one swift move, he swept his hand across the top of the pulpit, snagged them out of the air and put them back in his mouth. The sound of clapping and laughter filled the room. Dad put his head down and laughed until tears came. When he recovered, he said, "Dismissed." People left, still laughing. Dad said later, "It's nice to know the people were paying attention."

IS ONE CHURCH AS GOOD AS ANOTHER?

INSPIRATIONAL When one door of happiness closes, another opens; but often we look so long at the closed door that we do not see the one which has been opened for us.
If this question had been, "Is one denomination as good as another?" then I could answer YES, one denomination is as good as another. But since it asks "Is one church as good as another?" then I must answer NO. Do you want to know what the Bible says regarding this question? Read on!

Denominations are not of the Bible and consequently are not of God. They are of men. Therefore, one denomination is just as good as another when it comes to salvation! When men institute it, establish it, organize it and operate it, then it is not of God. The word denomination means division and separation. Coins are denominations or parts of a dollar. Ones, fives, tens and twenties are denominations of a hundred. A denomination is only a "part" of a thing. It is not the whole of a thing.

The church for which Christ shed His blood and died (Acts 20:28) is not part of something larger. Therefore, it is not a denomination! It is the eternal kingdom prophesied of in the Old Testament (Isaiah 2:2-4; Micah 4:1-4) and brought into existence in the New Testament (Matthew 16:18; Mark 9:1; Acts 2:1-47; Ephesians 3:2-11). It is the body of the Lord and there is only "one body" (Ephesians 4:4; I Corinthians 12:20). When the Lord comes again He will save His body (church) and only His body (church, Ephesians 5:23).

Since Ephesians 4:4-6 says there is one Lord, one God, and one body, we might as well ask, "Is one Lord as good as another?" Or, "Is one God as good as another?" We cannot answer "yes" to these questions. So then, why would anyone answer "yes" to, "Is one church as good as another?" To say that one church is as good as another is the same as saying, "I don't want the church the Lord established" (Matthew 16:18), "I don't want the church He shed His blood for and died to purchase" (Acts 20:28), "I don't want the church over which He rules as head" (Ephesians 1:22), "I don't want the church He will redeem to be in heaven" (Ephesians 5:23). To say that one church is as good as another would be one of the greatest lies ever told! I'm certainly not going to say it, are you?

The Lord's church wears his name — the church of Christ (Romans 16:16) and follows His Word. What name do you wear and follow?

Rabies Vaccine Proves Successful
 After four years of intensive research on a rabies vaccine, Louis Pasteur, a French chemist and pharmacist, administered the first of 14 daily doses to a 9-year-old boy who had been severely mauled by a rabid dog. The immunization was successful, and the Pasteur method was quickly adopted worldwide. His work is credited with saving millions of lives through the rabies and anthrax vaccines.

Women's Role in the Church The number of female preachers in American churches in the past 20 years has nearly tripled. Every religion that allows female clergy "has seen membership plummet and every major religious group that doesn't, such as Roman Catholics, has seen a rise." The article goes on to say that liberalizing trends are unpopular among the religious. Christianity has been the one major positive influence through the centuries on women's rights, but it is true that God in the Bible has identified roles for the sexes. The health and psychological well being of men and women is an issue that is related to these roles. The data seems to support the fact that this is a significant issue for people as they look at their own religious beliefs and practices and that "liberalized religions are shrinking." "Explaining Religion" Project A three-year study involving 14 universities and a large number of scientists funded by a $3.1 million budget has been announced to "give a biological explanation for religion." The idea is to do neurological and brain studies to explain how religion came into existence on a purely biological level. This study involves everything from evolutionary explanations of morality to chemical causes of "religious states of mind." There has been a fair amount of attention given to the idea that belief in God and religious tendencies is due to certain types of activity in certain parts of the brain. If the intent of the studies is to discount and destroy religious belief, it is doomed to failure because of the number of assumptions that are involved. If the intent is to suggest that we are designed to be religious, it will be a big problem for atheists because historically belief in God has been a liability in biological survival.
